ED MAHON AND SPOTLIGHT PA, Requester	:

v.	:	Docket No.: AP 2022-2503
PENNSYLVANIA DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, Respondent	:

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

On October 11, 2022, Ed Mahon, a journalist with Spotlight PA (collectively, “Requester”), submitted a request (“Request”) to the Pennsylvania Department of Health (“Department”) pursuant to the Right-to-Know Law (“RTKL”), 65 P.S. §§ 67.101 et seq., seeking:

1. Aggregate data of the number of medical marijuana certifications issued by Theodore Colterelli from April 28, 2021 to the present.
2. Aggregate data of the number of medical marijuana certifications issued by Theodore Colterelli from April 1, 2022 to the present.
3. Aggregate data of the number of medical marijuana certifications issued by Theodore Colterelli from Jan. 1, 2017 to the present.
4. I am requesting a database of all medical marijuana certifications issued by Thomas Colterelli, including the date the certification was issued. I am requesting this information with the identity of patients removed or redacted. I am requesting this information from Jan. 1, 2017 to the present.

On October 17, 2022, the Department denied the Request pursuant to the Medical Marijuana Act (“Act”). 35 P.S. § 10231.302.

On October 28, 2022, the Requester appealed to the Office of Open Records (“OOR”), providing reasons for disclosure. The OOR invited the parties to supplement the record and directed the Department to notify third parties of their ability to participate in the appeal. See 65 P.S. § 67.1101(c).

On November 21, 2022, following several extensions for the Requester, 65 P.S. § 67.902(b), the Requester submitted a position statement, arguing that the OOR has previously ordered the Department to release this type of information and that the Department has provided this information before in public testimony. In support of this argument, the Requester also argued that a previous ruling of the Commonwealth Court prohibits the Department from relying on a broad interpretation of the Act’s confidentiality provision.

On November 21, 2022, the Department submitted a position statement, arguing that the records are made confidential by the Act as certifications issued by practitioners and that the aggregated data exception of the RTKL is not applicable because the exception “cannot be grafted onto other, more narrowly tailored laws,” and citing to Mahon v. Pa. Dep’t of Health v. Mahon and Spotlight PA, 1066 C.D. 2021 at *8, fn 10 (“we reject the contention of Respondents that the provision relating to aggregate data in the RTKL...must be read in pari materia...[t]he RTKL is clear; state statutes that designate the ‘public or nonpublic nature of a record’ supersede the RTKL and its disclosure mandate.””).

On December 5, 2022, the Requester submitted a follow up statement reiterating his arguments.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

The Department is a Commonwealth agency subject to the RTKL. 65 P.S. § 67.301. Records in the possession of a Commonwealth agency are presumed to be public, unless exempt under the RTKL or other law or protected by a privilege, judicial order or decree. See 65 P.S. § 67.305. As an agency subject to the RTKL, the Department is required to demonstrate, “by a preponderance of the evidence,” that records are exempt from public access. 65 P.S. § 67.708(a)(1). Preponderance of the evidence has been defined as “such proof as leads the fact-finder ... to find that the existence of a contested fact is more probable than its nonexistence.” Pa. State Troopers Ass’n v. Scolforo, 18 A.3d 435, 439 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2011) (quoting Pa. Dep’t of Transp. v. Agric. Lands Condemnation Approval Bd., 5 A.3d 821, 827 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2010)).

Items 1-3 of the Request seeks the number of medical marijuana certifications issued by Thomas Colterelli for specific time periods; Item 4 of the Request seeks records showing de-identified patient information for his certifications. The Department denied the Request in full, arguing that this information is exempt under Section 302 of the Act, which provides that:

(a) Patient information. — The [D]epartment shall maintain a confidential list of patients and caregivers to whom it has issued identification cards. All information obtained by the [D]epartment relating to patients, caregivers and other applicants shall be confidential and not subject to public disclosure, including disclosure under the act of February 14, 2008 (P.L.6, No.3), known as the Right-to-Know Law, including:

- (1) Individual identifying information about patients and caregivers.
- (2) Certifications issued by practitioners.
- (3) Information on identification cards.
- (4) Information provided by the Pennsylvania State Police under section 502(b).
- (5) Information relating to the patient’s serious medical condition.

(b) Public information.--The following records are public records and shall be subject to the Right-to-Know Law:

(1) Applications for permits submitted by medical marijuana organizations.

(2) The names, business addresses and medical credentials of practitioners authorized to provide certifications to patients to enable them to obtain and use medical marijuana in this Commonwealth. All other practitioner registration information shall be confidential and exempt from public disclosure under the Right-to-Know Law.

(3) Information relating to penalties or other disciplinary actions taken against a medical marijuana organization or practitioner by the department for violation of this act.

35 P.S. § 10231.302 (emphasis added). The issue on appeal is whether or not the responsive records fall within the Act's prohibition on release of "[c]ertifications issued by practitioners" or "[a]ll other practitioner registration information[.]" The Department argues that the data sought by the Request implicates the language in Section 302 of the Act, while the Requester responds that the Department is construing the language of the Act too broadly.

Both parties turn to the Commonwealth Court's decision in Pa. Dep't of Health v. Mahon for support in analyzing this language. 2022 Pa. Commw. LEXIS 136 (Commw. Ct. 2021) (publication ordered October 18, 2022). In Mahon, the Requester sought, in relevant part, "[a]ggregate data for the number of medical marijuana certification issues [sic] for each of the eligible qualifying conditions[.]" Id. The OOR granted the appeal in part, concluding that "subsection (a) concerns information and records relating to specific patients and caregivers, rather than information in the aggregate about the program[.]" and that "[the request] expressly seeks data of the medical marijuana certifications by category, not information that would be related to a specific patient, caregiver or applicant certification." Id. In affirming the OOR's holding, the Commonwealth Court observed that "[t]he larger context of the confidentiality provision suggests a similar construction, with the Department required to “maintain a confidential list of [individual] patients . . . to whom it has issued identification cards” and a list of examples of such information, albeit non-exclusive, which are by their nature individual [....] The relationship to individual patients in these prohibitions is manifest and exclusive. Thus, we conclude that the aggregated data requested is not patient information under Section 302(a)[.]” Id.

Helpfully, the Court also drew distinctions between the language of the Act and the broader confidentiality provision in another recent case, Pennsylvania Department of Revenue v. Wagaman, 271 A.3d 553 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2021).¹ In that case, the requester sought aggregate data showing revenues for each type of tax in the total business trust fund tax, corporate tax, and miscellaneous tax revenues in the Allentown Neighborhood Improvement Zone. Id. On appeal to the OOR, the Department argued that the newly amended Fiscal Code prohibited any disclosure. Id. The OOR ordered aggregate data released to the extent that it could not be used to identify any individual taxpayers, but was reversed on appeal because the language of the Fiscal Code exempts “any information gained by any administrative department, board, or commission, as a result of any returns, reports, correspondence, claims, investigations, hearings, certifications or verifications[.]” Id. Thus, the Fiscal Code’s prohibition on release of information depends only on the source of that information; even if aggregated or de-identified, the information could not be provided. Id. (“Although OOR determined the Tax Totals were subject to disclosure to the extent that the tax liability of individual taxpayers was not discernible, the use of the information is not the touchstone for protection or disclosure.”).

Items 1-3 of the Request seeks a count of certifications issued by a particular practitioner. In this case, aggregating data by provider is sufficient to satisfy the section of the Act’s requirements dealing with disclosure of patient data because, as in Mahon, it is not individual patient data at that level, and Section 302(a)(2), which exempts information regarding certifications, does so only to the extent that they “relate to patients”. 35 P.S. § 10231.302(a)(2); 2022 Pa. Commw. LEXIS 136 (“The relationship to individual patients in these prohibitions is manifest and exclusive.”). However, the Requester seeks that aggregated patient data in relation to explicitly identified provider information; that is, he wants to learn how many certifications a particular provider has issued. Therefore, while the Request is seeking aggregated data that does not relate to individual patients, it is explicitly seeking individualized provider data, and so the holding in Mahon controls only if the Act’s prohibition does not extend to this type of provider data.

Section 302(b) of the Act states that “[t]he names, business addresses and medical credentials of practitioners” are public record, but “[a]ll other practitioner registration information shall be confidential and exempt from public disclosure under the Right-to-Know Law.” 35 P.S. § 10231.302(b)(2). Unlike the patient protections in Section 302(a), Section 302(b) lists explicitly public information about providers, and then exempts “all other practitioner registration information” from disclosure. Under the Act, practitioner registration is governed by Section 402, which lists the requirements to register with the Department and be evaluated for suitability to issue medical marijuana certifications. 35 P.S. § 10231.401. These registration requirements do not include the requirement to file a copy of the medical marijuana certification with the Department; that administrative requirement is found under Section 403 of the Act, “Issuance of certification,” and does not actually compel the Department to track the number of certifications each practitioner issues. 35 P.S. § 10231.403 (“The practitioner shall: Provide a copy of the certification to the department, which shall place the information in the patient directory within the department's electronic database.”).

Because aggregate data showing how many certifications a practitioner has issued is not related to an individual patient, it is not exempt under Section 302(a) of the Act. Since certifications are not “practitioner registration information,” information about them is not confidential under Section 302(b) of the Act. See Finnerty v. Pa. Dep’t of Health, OOR Dkt. AP 2021-1833, 2021 PA O.O.R.D. LEXIS 2154.² Therefore, the records sought in Items 1-3 of the Request are not confidential under the Act, and the Department must provide them to the extent that such records exist.

Meanwhile, Item 4 of the Request seeks a spreadsheet of individual certifications, including “the date the certification was issued.” Item 4 of the Request explicitly asks the Department to de-identify the certification data, but Item 4 of the Request runs up against the same issue the requester in Wagaman faced; the Act’s prohibition on release of data is not contingent upon whether the patient can be identified by the release, but rather whether the information relates to individual patients at all. Mahon dealt with aggregate numbers that were not based on any individual patient’s information and Items 1-3 of the instant Request are seeking aggregate numbers relating only to a practitioner; Item 4 of the Request is seeking information taken from individual certifications. 2022 Pa. Commw. LEXIS 136. That information, as it relates to individual patients, is explicitly exempt under Section 302(a)(2) of the Act, whether or not the individual is identifiable. 35 P.S. § 10231.302(a)(2). Accordingly, Item 4 of the Request seeks records rendered confidential by the Act, and the Department was not required to provide them.

² As the Department notes, the OOR decided essentially the same issues as those presented for Item 1 of the Request in Finnerty; however, the OOR analyzes those issues separately here to account for the rationale set forth by the Commonwealth Court in Mahon.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Requester's appeal is granted in part and denied in part, and the Department is required to provide all records responsive to Items 1-3 of the Request within thirty days. This Final Determination is binding on all parties. Within thirty days of the mailing date of this Final Determination, any party may appeal to the Commonwealth Court. 65 P.S. § 67.1301(a). All parties must be served with notice of the appeal. The OOR also shall be served notice and have an opportunity to respond according to court rules as per Section 1303 of the RTKL. However, as the quasi-judicial tribunal adjudicating this matter, the OOR is not a proper party to any appeal and should not be named as a party.³ This Final Determination shall be placed on the OOR website at: <http://openrecords.pa.gov>.
